[Communicated.]

Captain Easby, &c. MESSRS. EDITORS: Why should there be so nuch noise and confusion raised in regard to the course which the Commissioner of Public Buildings and Grounds deemed it his privilege to take, in the matter of the location of the Bronze Equestrian Statue of General Jackson

The facts in the matter, as I understand them, are simply these: Mr. Mills, the artist, and Captain Easby, the Commissioner of Public Buildings and Grounds, happened one day to be riding together in an omnibus past the President's House and Lafayette Square, on the opposite side of the great avenue. Mr. Mills made some remark on the beauty of the site selected for the Jackson statue, pointing to Lafayette Square. Captain Easby said at once that Jackson's statue could not go there. Mr. Mills remarked that he thought the late President Polk had located the site of the statue in Lafayette Square. Well, said Captain Easby, he had no right to do it. The statue can't go there. A site may be had for it over on the Island, by the Washington Monument, but it can't go in Lafayette Square.

Mr. Mills got somewhat indignant at this emphatic resolve of the Commissioner of Public Buildings and Grounds, but, lest he might be in error in his views on the subject, refrained from making any positive reply, and went to seek the Secretary of the Jackson Association, John W. Maury, esq., and inform him of Capt. Easby's position in the matter.

This brought about an interview between Mr. Maury and Captain Easby, on which occasion the indomitable Commissioner first took the same views of the subject which he had maintained in the omnibus with Mr. Mills the artist. Mr. Maury, in his own quiet way, asked Captain Easby if he had consulted President Fillmore on the subject, and the Commissioner said no, he had not, but the President would stand by him and back him up in the matter. Whereupon Mr. Maury said, let us look at the joint resolution of Congress on the subject, and see if even the President can prevent the Jack-son statue from being erected in Lafayette Square. The joint resolution was then read, authorizing the President of the United States to select the site for the statue, with the en-dorsement of Mr. President Polk, locating the site in Lafayette Square. Capt. Easby acknowledged his error, and surrendered at discretion, like a convinced man, ready to obey as well as to execute the laws of his adopted country.

Now, what more could be asked of the Commissioner than this? Would you ask him to be a Jackson man? He had a right to be an anti-Jackson man, and he had a right to suppose that his fast and unswerving friend, President Fillmore, would stand by him and back him up in forbidding the erection of Jackson's statue right under the nose of a Whig President. They had both been old anti-Jackson men together. They had fought hard against him, and he had looked upon them, no doubt, with something akin to contempt. Why, then, expect them to

Was not Capt. Easby fully justified in counting upon the President's backing him up in this business? He knew President Fillmore's old and steadfast friendship for him, and that nothing short of a pretty smart earthquake would be likely to break off that friendship. Hence he had a right to say that high func-tionary would stand by him. But as soon as he looked at the law relative to the state, he was all obedience to its mandate. What more could be asked? True, his enemies may say he ought to have known the law relative to the public grounds, or he ought not to be the Commissioner over them. But he claims to be no lawyer; why then expect him to know the law by heart? It may be urged that his conduct shows what he would have done if he only had had the power, and that President Fillmore would have backed him up! Well, what of that? They are in power, and are both anti-Jackson men, and they have the right to display their anti-Jacksonism in their high places haven't they?

It is complained of Captain Easby, that he has removed that venerable and most highly esteemed man, Robert Mills, the architect, from office. But did not President Fillmore request it, or sanction it; and will he not stand by and back up Captain Easby in the matter.
As for Captain Easby's manner being emphatic and English-like, it must be recollected that he is an Englishman by birth, and can't be expected to be entirely free from Englishisms; one of which-energy and emphasis of man ner—is a credit to him.

In conclusion, let me tell the enemies of Cap tain Easby, one and all, that he and President Fillmore are understood to know, understand, and love each other like brothers; and that no thing which Captain Easby may do will cause his devoted friend, President Fillmore, to dismiss him from office before he goes out of office himself—on the 4th of March, 1853.

Drag Sig: Being on the point of leaving the city, I avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you kindly for the medicine you sent me, and which has restored me to the use of my limbs. I beg you to send me four bottles more, to carry on my voyage. Since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture my confidence is so strong that, in gratitude to the proprietors of said medicine, I beg you to present my respects to them, and induce them to make it more publicly known as a sure Rheumatic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated on my bed, useless in all my limbs, you can appreciate nearly as well as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Hampton's Tincture, and I am positive had it not been for your strong and forcible recommendations I should still have been in bed.

It is really a pity this specific should not be approved by medical men, and like all patent drugs it should suffer the imputation the public generally give to such preparations. I myself, who was always opposed to a patented specific, took this medicine with reluctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through your disinterest-d, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation, that induced me to try this really beneficial Vegetable Tincture.

You may inform Mesers. Mortimer & Mowbray that they are at liberty to make use of my rame in the way. avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you kindly of my hands are fast returning to their former natural appearance.

I have been under the treatment of several physicians in London and Paris, without any apparent benefit; also, while in New York, having tried the Thompsonian and Homeepathic remedies, after having been tormented with galvanic batteries, cold and aromatic baths, and hundreds of internal and external medicines, all to no effect. I am, so far, cured by this Hampton's Vegetable Tincture only. Therefore, my dear sir, accept of the assurance of my gratitude, and believe me your well-wisher.

WONDERFUL CURE OF HEREDITARY SCROPULA

WONDERFUL CURE OF HEREDITARY SCROFULA!

This certificate is from the pen of a gentleman whose name appears on the journal of Congress—one who is extensively and favorably known:

It affords me pleasure to state that Dr. Jesse Hampton's Tincture has effected a most extraordinary cure of my slave boy Albert. The patient was three years old, and had the Scrofula—(his father is scrofulous.) The boy was a moving mass of sores from head to foot; the upper pids of the eyes were much swollen, and turned inside out, exhibiting horrible mattering ulcers, that protruded over the eye-ball so as to produce blindness. It is strange, yet true, this child—that I felt resigned to see die as a relief from suffering—has been restored to health under the treatment of Dr. Hampton.

LOUISVILLE, March 20, 1851.

We have a large number of certificates from our most respectable citizens attesting cures made by this celebrated Tincture of most every disease that "fiesh is heir to." After all other remedies have failed, we ask the afflicted to call on the Agents and get pamphlets with certificates of cures.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE,

BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEWS. BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEWS.

O WING to the late revolutions and counter-revolutions among the nations of Europe, which have followed each other in such quick succession, and of which "the end is not yet," the seading periodicals of Great Britain have become invested with a degree of interest hitherto unknown. They occupy a middle ground between the hasty, disjointed, and necessarily imperfect records of the newspapers, and the elaborate and ponderous treaties to be furnished by the historian at a future day. Whoever reads these periodicals obtains a correct and connected account of all the important political events of the Old World, as they occur, and learns the various conclusions drawn from them by the leading spirits of the age. The American publishers therefore deem it proper to call renewed attention to the works they publish, and the very low prices at which they are offered to subscribers. The following is their list, viz:

THE LONDON QUARTERIA REVIEW,
THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW,
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW, and BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE.

In these periodicals are contained the views, moderately though clearly and firmly expressed, of the three createst.

In these periodicals are contained the views, moderately though clearly and firmly expressed, of the three greatest parties in England—Tory, Whig, and Radical; "Binckwood" and the "London Quarterly" are Tory, the "Edinburgh Review" Mhig, and the "Westminster Review" Kiberal. The "North British Review" owes its establishment to the last great ecclesiatelal movement in Scotland, and is not ultra in its views on any one of the grand departments of human knowledge. It was originally edited by Dr. Chalmers, and now, since his death, is conducted by his son-in-law, Dr. Hanna, associated with Sir David Brewster. Its literary character is of the very highest order. The "Westminster," though reprinted under that title only, is published in England under the title of the "Foreign Quarterly and Westminster," it being in fact a union of the two Reviews formerly published and reprinted under separate titles. It has, therefore, the advantage, by this combination, of uniting in one work the best features of both, as heretofore issued.

The above Periodicals are reprinted in New York, imme-of both, as heretofore issued.

The above Periodicals are reprinted in New York, immediately on their arrival by the British steamers, in a beautiful clear type, on fine white paper, and are faithful copies of the originals—Blackwood's Magazine being an extension of the paper. act fue simile of the Edinburgh editi

Academies, and Common Schools; Rev. Edward Hitchcock, L.D., President of Amherst College, and Professor of Geology, Massachusetts.*

Mr. Robert Scars—Dear Sir; I have looked over the entire series of your valuable publications with much inferest and profit; and am quite surprised at the amount of literary labor you have performed, and the research it must have cost you to obtain so many fine illustrations, while you have an active superintendence of an extensive business. I am also gratified at the decidedly moral and religious influence which your books will exert, and cannot but hope that they will do much to counteract the effects of that light and immoral literature which deluges the land, and, like the frogs of Egypt, comes up even to the kneading troughs of our kitchens. May you live long to follow your plans.

Bespectfully and sincerely, your obliged servant, EDWARD HITCHCOCK.

*The works alluded to as having been examined and recommended, are as follows: A new and popular Pictorial Description of the United States, Pictorial History of the American Revolution, Scenes and Sketches of Continental Europe, Description of Great Britain and Ireland, Pictorial Family Annual, Treasury of Knowledge, Information for the People, The Family Instructor, Pictorial Sunday Book, Bithe Biography, Bible History, and second series of The Wonders of the World.

Gentlemen of respectability and of good address wanted to sell the above popular Pictorial Works. Full particulars of the principles and profits of the Agency will be given on application either personally or by letter. The postage must in all cases be paid.
